Dark Green

Emily Hunt

The Song Cave for Laura
To the faithful Absence is condensed presence.

EMILY DICKINSON
Table of Contents

<table> <thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr> </thead> <tbody>
<tr>
<td>FIGURE THE COLOR OF THE WAVE SHE WATCHED</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AMERICA</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BEGINNER</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I WAS THE GIANT FACTORY</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HOLIDAY INN</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ORIGINAL</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SYMBOLS</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WHIPPED BY NATURE</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SAY IT IS SUMMER</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FOR FLOWERS</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A CONVERSATION</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SUNDAY</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ANOTHER TIME STOPPED</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROUGH BELIEF</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>REFLECTION NOT YET LINKED TO ANOTHER</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LOVE IS A GOOD THING RUNNING</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WHAT STUNNING PRIVILEGE</td>
<td>23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>YOU MUST BE SO TIRED</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A FAVORITE STORY</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE CROSSING OVER</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPRING</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PARADISE LOST</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr> </tbody>
</table>
FIGURE THE COLOR OF THE WAVE SHE WATCHED

goodbye gone kin like water gone half, first self, where is that friend who happened to smoke
the first beautiful sky where are the hours she filled to see sink those hollow shapes made by wind, goodbye cleared history, swept steps, goodbye what’s left the weather, which leaves slap and fret to explain if only the weather were how it was, the weather has nothing to do, goodbye lies I meant deeply goodbye to each flowering shock ahead in the garden
the garden was paper a plan stabbed by trees and then a stripped plot, goodbye little war after war a cold goodnight to either ends of silence did it begin, did I skate past the omen, exquisite caution my armor
I pretended to shed, dear blank reply, radical portrait hung on a cloud girl with big shovel inventing the flurry
oh lose me my snow
No one’s around, their respect for me has been receding since my last vision where I was on a ship and I could feel the motion of the journey.
The frozen shards of rain hit the sea so beautiful the first slow hundred days.
I could see them through a little hole.
I tried to go to sleep standing I imagined going very far.
The fourth or fifth place might be a kind of climbing over the feeling of the group.
They didn’t make the land they just walked across it rearranging, so I was there.
BEGINNER

And if the sky was round and being filled in November, the dark month appeared smaller, and later a kind of gray.
My arm was out the window.
Fall bled forward.
The upper edge of the whole sun shifted something higher.
You were there, with me in the yards, sometimes blue
in your clothes.
We spoke of the morbid.
Sparks seemed to spread from it.
Often a spawn of frogs the impression of which weakened as it lasted.
We appeared to see nature, the sky rose and all that should be green appeared to us in autumn.
And these plain faces existed, passing underneath.
In red light, we acted alone.
Two prisms, one upon the other.
Little kids played soccer
by the twisted corn.
The sun slid in the grooves.
The border spread while we were eating dinner.
I WAS THE GIANT FACTORY

I went there every day

I did care about my job, its feeling wrong and endless, the smooth machines, their heavy curves,

the rows of windows, revolving doors,

what filled the air, a thousand locks,

one looming cage, I’d only watch

Others there said little and in the space they left

I slid invisibly, measuring, testing, slowing what they saw in me and one of them

I decided I could hate or love like I admired