PORN HUB CLAIMED MORE THAN 82 MILLION VISITORS A DAY IN 2017, WHICH AMOUNTS TO NEARLY 29 BILLION VISITORS A YEAR.

THE global-wide porn culture online, which enlists tens of thousands of sexual participants, has not received careful attention. Viewers tend to be damning, indifferent, or, especially if they are young, exhilarated.

Pornography exists cheek-by-jowl with a faux-moral culture to which it seems utterly opposed. The vast online porn culture empire, owned by many of the same industries who tout morality or “political correctness” offline, such as Disney and Fox, points to a schizoid division in global at-large culture: parallel narratives, governed by the same corporations, with the online porn narrative sexually inverting in virtually every instance its own offline pieties.

Offline, #MeToo primarily addresses males in power who sexually abuse females “under” them. Online, teenage girls sexually assault and abuse their fathers and “superiors.” Offline, racism is condemned; online, it is a staple, with Asian girls and virile black young men, for example, objectified in graphic racist terms. Offline, the female body has been rendered into private property. No trespassing! Online, the female body belongs to the hyper-assertive hetero male, or at the very least is communal property.

The Machiavellian corporations that produce both the videos online and diametrically opposed discourse offline rake in the easy billions.

But hasn't this always been the sexual dialectic? The pornographer's best friend is the censor. The moralizing politician or priest who rails against sin and sexual deviation is abusing young assistants and choir boys. That is an ongoing dialectic, perhaps especially in the US where, for example, seductive young women, are "for sale" commercially but in fact are off-limits. However, online their for-sale seductiveness is transfigured into utterly available tattooed sirens.

The point is that the stakes of the online-offline split now are far more crucial than before, because it has much to do with "realities" in mortal conflict: what remains of the "real" world at war with the ever-burgeoning hyper-reality of tech-life.

My "examination" of the pornography phenomenon describes a wide arc.

A scholar wrote some time ago that for her the pornographic was epitomized when viewing on TV President George W. Bush vomit into the lap of a visiting dignitary at an official state dinner, and this volume addresses similarly extended notions of pornography.

Among other stratagems, I move from country to country. Granting the corporate porn site owners' rank opportunism, there is about the naked body in passion, or even simulated passion, less mediation than that same body offline and socially constructed. That is, naked Kamasutra participants tell us more about themselves and the country they in effect represent than we'd learn otherwise. Hence I provide a view of the US, Japan, China, France, Germany, Thailand, the UK, Russia, the Czech Republic, etc, that is both intimate and ideologically revealing.

Porn-anti-Porn is descriptive, but also analytical and "creative." Critical exposition, miniature narratives, pastiche, and dialogues are displayed in various tonalities, always with brevity. A number of the texts were published items which I've plundered and "treated" to reveal subtexts and obscured ideologies. The original venues of these treated texts--called "docufiction"--are listed on the final page under "Sources."

SILICONE

We passed a couple of these out to our employees and boys as samples. The verdict was unanimous. This is one of the most amazing everyday cockrings we've worn. In fact, most of the guys around the shop are wearing one now. Made from 100% silicone, the Super Soft Cockring stretches to go on easy and stays tight once it's on. It has a flat band so it won't roll down and pull your pubes like round rubber rings. It is safe for all the lube, spit, cum and piss you're going to smear on it. It stands up to whatever you choose to clean it with--if you choose to clean it.

BLACK SITE

Abu Zubaydah wearing filthy diapers crawls into the small confinement box without protest.

Abu Zubaydah is moved back and forth between the large and small confinement boxes and repeatedly slammed against a wall, an interrogation technique known as “walling.”

Abu Zubaydah in his filthy diapers is informed again that he could end the torment if he tells interrogators what they want to know.

The waterboard is rolled in.

Abu Zubaydah in his filthy diapers remains silent.

Abu Zubaydah is broken during the three-week “aggressive phase” of interrogation.

Abu Zubaydah is rendered “utterly compliant,” then dies.

Abu Zubaydah’s interment sequence should be used as a default template for future interrogation of high value captives.

BURIED ALIVE

According to a 2004 CIA Interrogation with Extreme Prejudice (IEP) memo, a high-value detainee (HVD) can be bound in contorted stress positions, subjected to deafening noise, sleep deprived to the point of hallucination, deprived of food, drink, and medical care, waterboarded, sexually taunted and humiliated, subjected to extreme heat or extreme cold, confined in small coffin-like boxes, repeatedly slapped, and “walled” once (one violent impact with the wall) to 30 times when the interrogator requires a more “substantial” response to a question.

Certain official restraints were imposed.

For example, the Justice Department narrowly rejected a CIA proposal to bury detainees alive.

MAX Hardcore

Is synonymous with “Gonzo Porn,” loosely adapted from Hunter Thompson’s “gonzo journalism,” where zero distance is established between events & the recording of those events.

Max Hardcore (born Paul Little, in Wisconsin), is himself director, often photographer & main actor—a slightly built balding man with a small but erect penis & satanic grin, who wears a white cowboy hat while violently sodomizing, peeing, fisting, or otherwise sexually abusing a faux-teen or adolescent (actresses must be 18-years-old), usually Latina or Asian, poor-seeming, seized from the mean streets. So that the fantasy of brutal rape for $$ is always suggested.

Max Hardcore served two years & change in federal prison for forced sex with underage participants. That the participants were over the age of 18 was not disputed; the charges were based on the fact that Max Hardcore actresses were portraying underage characters.

Max reportedly commented: If I’m serving two years, Disney, Exxon & the other shadow corporations that own the fuckin porn industry, should be doing two lifetimes.

MOOCH

One thing that's really cool is chaining my sub for a couple hours while I tend to other things: go to the gym, the Apple store, Trader Joe's. While I'm out and about I enjoy thinking of how pissed he is, how he's cussing me out. What can I say, I'm a bastard at heart. Then I go home and fuck him superhard. My sub used to hate this, but one day I bought him the Mooch cock-extender-buttplug combo.

Now I chain him, slip this on him. The extender keeps his cock long and hard, the buttplug gets him horny as fuck, and when I get home he's eager to play. The Mooch is a great investment.
