

OLIVIA ON THE RECORD

A Radical Experiment in Women's Music

Ginny Z Berson

aunt lute books

San Francisco

Copyright © 2020 Ginny Z Berson

“Freedom Time” used with permission of Linda Tillery; “Hello Hooray” based on the Rolf Kempf song “Hello, Hurray,” used with permission; “Leaping” used with permission of Sue Fink; “Don’t Pray for Me” and “No Hidin’ Place” used with permission of Mary Watkins; “Kahlua Mama” used with permission of Virginia Rubino; “Song to My Mama,” “Ode to a Gym Teacher,” “Valentine Song,” “Rosalind” used with permission of Meg Christian; “Joanna,” “If It Weren’t for the Music,” “Song of the Soul,” “Waterfall” used with permission of Cris Williamson; “Carol, in the park, chewing on straws,” “Anathema” used with permission of Judy Grahn; “[My Lover Is a Woman]” © Anastasia Dunham-Parker-Brady, 2020. Used with permission.

Album covers for Lesbian Concentrate and The Ways a Woman Can Be, gift certificate for I Know You Know, excerpt from liner notes for Lesbian Concentrate, original Olivia Records logo, excerpt from liner notes for The Ways a Woman Can Be, excerpt from I Know You Know Songbook. All used with permission of Judy Dlugacz.

Cover photo © 2020 JEB (Joan E. Biren)

All rights reserved. This book, or parts thereof, must not be reproduced in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying and recording, or by an information storage and retrieval system, without written permission from the publisher.

Aunt Lute Books
P.O. Box 410687
San Francisco, CA 94141
www.auntlute.com

Print ISBN: 9781951874018
ebook ISBN: 9781939904379

Book design and typesetting: A.S. Ikeda

Cover design: Poonam Whabi

Senior Editor: Joan Pinkvoss

Artistic Director: Shay Brawn

Managing Editor: A.S. Ikeda

Production: Maya Sisneros, María Mínguez Arias, Emma Rosenbaum, Calli Storrs

Publication of this book was made possible, in part, by support from the Sara and Two C-Dogs Foundation.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Names: Berson, Ginny, author.

Title: Olivia on the record : a radical experiment in women’s music /
Ginny Z Berson.

Description: San Francisco : Aunt Lute Books, [2020]

Identifiers: LCCN 2020024078 (print) | LCCN 2020024079 (ebook) | ISBN
9781951874018 (paperback) | ISBN 9781939904379 (ebook)

Subjects: LCSH: Olivia Records, Inc. | Sound recording industry--United States--
History--20th century. | Women’s music--History and criticism. | Feminism and music--United States.

Classification: LCC ML3792.O55 B47 2020 (print) | LCC ML3792.O55 (ebook)
| DDC 781.64082/0973--dc23

LC record available at <https://lccn.loc.gov/2020024078>

LC ebook record available at <https://lccn.loc.gov/2020024079>

Printed in the U.S.A. on acid-free paper

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

To all who yearn for justice and walk the path of love and compassion.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Olivia operated as a collective, and although this book was not written collectively, it would have been much thinner without our collective memories. Enormous gratitude to the women who answered my pleas for help whenever I called or emailed, always answering my “do you remember this and when was it and who else was there?” and who were so essential to the early days of Olivia—Shambhavi Meg Christian, Kate Winter, Jennifer Woodul, Liz Brown, Sandy Ramsey, Judy Dlugacz. Thanks to all the women who let me interview them to get their sides of things, their experiences, their memories: Linda Tillery, Mary Watkins, Teresa Trull, Robin Flower, Karlene Faith, Sandy Stone, Kim Johnson, Barbara Smith, Diane Sabin, Emily Culpepper, Helaine Harris, Amy Horowitz, and the late great Joan Lowe. And to Cris Williamson for saying the magic words. The analysis and any errors of fact are mine alone.

Coletta Reid, Tasha Singer, Lee Schwing and Jennifer Woodul were helpful to me on The Furies chapter.

For years, my friends Achy Obejas and Torie Osborn leaned on me to write this story and really planted the seed. But before I wrote this book, I didn't know how to write a book. Luckily, Judy Grahn was about to start a memoir-writing class, and I signed up immediately. I thank Judy and the classmates who were so important to the initial drafts—especially Joellen Hiltbrand, and Dianne Jenett.

To the women who read different drafts or chapters and gave me useful feedback, I give thanks: Jackie Dennis, Nancy Berson, Lydia Koza, Sandy Stone, and Shakti Butler. To JoAnn Ugolini and Don Cushman, for good listening on salon nights.

Thanks to Penny Rosenwasser and Judy Werle for invaluable advice and encouragement.

I heard a million stories about how awful publishing is now, how there are no good editors, etc. My experience working with Aunt Lute Books was completely the opposite. This press has been in existence since 1982—a feminist institution—and they have been absolutely wonderful to work with. Joan Pinkvoss should get an award for being such an excellent editor. The book is better because of her editing skills, our shared history, and her willingness always to consider everything. Gratitude to all the Aunt Luters who had anything to do with this—especially Shay Brawn, A.S. Ikeda, and Emma Rosenbaum. I hope everyone who reads this will buy ten books from Aunt Lute. Let's keep them alive and healthy.

Finally, for her endless support, ideas, shoulder rubs, suggestions, encouragement when I was sure the book would never happen, and love, I thank my beloved partner, Jackie Dennis.

CONTENTS

	Prologue	13
1	The Road I Took	17
2	Woman-Loving Women	37
3	Freest Fancy	53
4	Hello Hooray	63
5	Strange Paradise	73
6	Where Do We Go From Here?	89
7	Live Dream	99
8	A Chording to the People	113
9	If It Weren't for the Music	123
10	Brand New Thing	131
11	Shooting Star	139
12	Gimme Just a Little Bit More	145
13	Hurts Like the Devil	155
14	Hoodoo'd	163

15	Don't Say Sister (Until You Mean It)	173
16	When Anger Takes the Wheel	181
17	Womanly Way	189
18	Don't Pray for Me	197
19	Wild Things	209
20	Scars	219
21	Face the Music	241
	Epilogue	251
	Timeline	257